Garden Club

Of Bryant's Pond

One of the most active clubs of this beautiful little town up in the Oxford Hills is the Garden Club.

In 1930, through the efforts of Eleanor Collier, the first show was given in August. This created so much interest that after a club had been organized, Mrs. Eleanor Collier honorary president, Mrs. Mark Allen, president, Mrs. Harry Day, treasurer, and Mrs. O. W. Mason, secretary.

Last summer a very successful show was given in July and the club also exhibited at Paris Hill and Livermore Falls, receiving prizes in both towns.

Through the efforts of the club, the common, which has been an eyesore for several years has been transformed. Loam was hauled for recovering the surface, the hedge enlarged, the old well stoned up with a millstone on top and an arch built over it which will be covered with vines this year.

A spruce tree was set out on the common before Christmas and was illuminated during the holidays. Much gratitude is due the many men who have helped so materially as well as to the Boy Scouts, working for the club and had much co-operation as the improvements made by the club have been so apparent.

The club is planning to have a small show of tulips and iris this spring, the annual show will be July 15, and later a small show of "glads".

The window boxes this year will be judged in their home locations and it is hoped every family will compete as well as take an active interest in the entire work of the club.

Among other plans for the year, attention to the lot near the common left vacant by fire will be given. They also intend to erect a flag pole and buy a flag. In May, the well-known naturalist, John Farlin, of Canton, will lecture to the club on "Birds in nature".

The value to the town of work of this sort can hardly be over estimated. The town is unusually fortunate in its location, there is no limit to the possibilities. Much credit is due officers of the club who have given so much of their time and interest to this work.

Longleys Enjoying the Warm Days

St. Petersburg, Fla., Mar. 12, 1935.

We have just returned from a three day trip to Miami over the Tamiami Trail up the east coast to Vero Beach, across the state by the Bok Tower and home by Tampa, six of us.

ferry seven miles, and down to Braden town to where George Atwood's brother has his grapefruit grove, with rows mile long. The foreman told me to pick some for the ladies. They were nearly done picking there in the large grove

There were a few trees around the office
The fruit was large, light colored, and nice flavored. Mr. Atwood, like any for-handed Maine man, had plenty of wood in the grove in case of a frost.

We got dinner at Fort Myers, a fine town, plenty of sheltered anchorage and nice boats. Lots said about fishing. This is where the best royal palms grow with trunks that look as though they had been turned in a lathe. We passed the home

I took the wheel at Naples and for the next 100 miles there wasn't much to see look as far as you could, then drive as fast as you can for half an hour; look again and all you can see is that ribbon of cement with no end.

We came to one place where there seemed to be fifty negroes picking ripe tomatoes, which were packed right there in crates, near the railroad and shined out. That was all the habitation we saw except a few Indians. The bulk of them we were attending some ceremonial at the beach. We pulled up at a small filling station, where there was an Indian village; small shacks covered with thatched roofs of long grass, which grew nearby. They had a number of dugout boats, each made from a log about twenty feet long and two feet in diameter; they appeared so light and nice and resembled an ordinary canoe, only, of course, with straight sides. Some were painted in brilliant colors. We were told they could be transported from there to the coast fifty miles, in one of these boats, through the big ditch or canal beside the highway. These birds appear to be six feet wide and several feet deep. The water looked better than I expected. The boats were attractive, but being anxious to get across we stuck to the gas wagon. There were many white and dark blue slim bodied herons along the banks, besides many other birds; the white ones were actually pretty.

The next morning we woke up to find ourselves near a fourteen story hotel without any guests or window frames in it—just the shell of a building with the ornament on top. It was built by a $40,000,000 New York syndicate. When the bubble burst they went under. We were told

It cost over $1,000,000 as is. They started too big down here, for we actually be-

Here we saw developments enough started that they been finished, and buildings built thereon, to house all the people in this United States, except possibly a few left at home to keep the home fires burning. Streets and sidewalks laid out, many all paved with iron light poles up, lamp holders now being broken off, and grass growing up through the bricks, millions of dollars spent and nothing finished.

We rode fifty miles, Friday morning, seeing some of the interesting things around Miami, Miami Beach and Coral coim was as usual and took us over the grounds, and I can say the pictures have never done it justice—all sorts of small trees with blossoms, shrubbery, flowerbeds and imported pond lilies of various colors. Malcolm picked rich flavored bananas and gave us. Several varieties of orange trees are in bearing. The wonder is how they ever got all these plants to this beauty in three years. We had to leave too soon. This was the bright spot in our trip. We passed the Presidential candidate, Bryan's estate, and the home

Memorial church, also the large hotel said to be owned by Al Smith and Backus.

We left Miami soon after 1 p. m., called at West Palm Beach, saw Will Spurr and mother from Otisfield, drove over around where Howard Smith used to stay; scarcely to me I hear nearly as many good words for Mr. Smith down here as we do at home, where we had him every day to hear us. We stayed overnight at Vero Beach and Saturday morning started across the state for the Bok Tower, over a new road nearly completed, which saved us fifty miles over the old way. There were about sixty miles of this stretch without sett-

and some with horns so long we thought they were done growing. We also saw dead ones stuck in the mud, where we thought we might see alligators. On the road we saw several gangs of prisoners working, some dark and some light colored men. Each gang had from one to three guards with double barreled shotguns. We decided we did not care to do either job.

Excerpt from a letter to the Citizens Reconstruction Organization:

"February 27, 1932..."

"The right thing to do is to put money to work. The people can do this if they want it done. If they will not save themselves, no one can save them. The time has come for the people to take charge of their own affairs. They should use their own money for their own benefit by putting it into circulation."—Signed CALVIN COOLIDGE

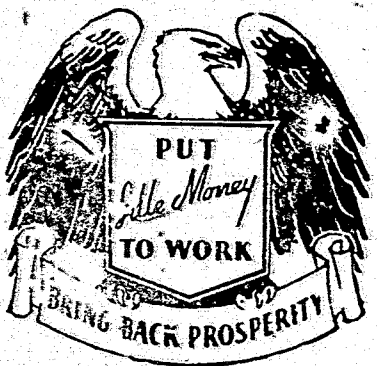

foolish KING TUT

KING TUT figured everything would be safe. All his diamonds and jewels (including his wife) he stipulated in his will, should be sealed up in his tomb; and nobody was ever to know where the stuff was buried. And they wouldn't have, if some curious archeologists hadn't got to pecking around—and let the cat out of the bag.

Foolish King Tut! BUT remember that King Tut was king. It was HIS property... and even in those days the king could do no wrong.

Today every American is king in his own home... at least he's supposed to be; and if we want to bury our money—that's our business. But, after all, IS it? Let's look at Tut's own land of Egypt. Tut hid his money—instead of spending it on irrigation and waterways—instead of investing it in his country's future. And look at Egypt now.

Scattered throughout America today are thousands of modern King Tuts. Folks who don't realize that hidden, IDLE money can cripple the progress of a great nation—can, if carried on long enough, destroy the very safety they are seeking!

..... for Stubborn Dollars—these new U. S. Reconstruction Bonds—in small denominations, $50, $100 and $500—short term, maturing in one year—yielding 2% interest—readily redeemable in cash at par, upon 60 days notice by the holder—non-taxable—for sale at your home town bank—and the money from the sale of these bonds will stay right in your own community. Remember—it is not helping the situation to disturb any sound investments or to take money out of a bank to buy these bonds. They are for only one purpose—to put idle dollars, reachable in no other way, back to work.

At the same time millions are awakening to this fact—and have ACTED. They are pouring their hidden money back into circulation at the rate of millions of dollars a day!

Behind this new wave of confidence stands the might of the United States Government. Through legislative and executive action, the government has helped us to help ourselves. And we'll be helping ourselves and neighbors too, whether we put our dollars back into the banks, into sound securities, or buy with them the needed things we've been hankering for so long.

No matter how your money gets back into circulation, it will stimulate credit, turn business wheels, speed Prosperity.

As for the King Tuts, who haven't yet seen the new light... poor, timid souls! Even they can do their bit toward better times and also know that their money is even safer than it was in hiding. For they can now buy U. S. Reconstruction Bonds, issued by Uncle Sam. While these bonds only yield 2% interest, they're every bit as safe as the United States Government itself.

Maine Publicity Bureau News

Plans for a Maine dinner to be held in Boston in April at the annual New England Hotel Association Exposition were discussed at a luncheon at the Lafayette Hotel attended by the officers and executive committee of the Maine Hotel Association. James C. Maher was host at the luncheon at which Charles B. Day, of Bangor and Richmond, President of the Maine Hotel Association, presided.

The new Maine song will be featured at the dinner, which will be attended by the leading hotel men of the state. Questions of hotel insurance and of Canadian exchange for tourists this coming summer were discussed and a committee was appointed to investigate the exchange situation.

Letters to the Maine Publicity Bureau from proprietors of farm homes or tourist resorts show that many people added materially to their incomes last summer. One farmer writes to the Bureau that through the renting of rooms and the serving of meals he increased his yearly income by more than $2,000. A hotel in the central portion of the state had two rooms which she offered tourists at the end of the summer added a tidy nest egg of $500 to her bank account.

A youth in a Maine college is able to attend the institution this year because his mother found sufficient profit in the sign, by the front door "Tourists Accommodated."

The annual booklets on hotels, camps and cottages, prepared every winter for tourists by the Maine Publicity Bureau are now being printed and will be ready for distribution within a short time.

One Maine physician estimates an increase in his business last summer of more than $2,000 as the result of tourist patients. This money was paid by people on whom he operated at their summer homes and did not include any of his office patients, because he had no way of tracing them, the bill usually being paid at the time of treatment.

The same physician, writing to the Publicity Bureau, adds an interesting story. Early last autumn he received a box of bulbs from a prominent seed man in New York City who has a summer home in the state and whom he had treated the previous summer. This was in addition to the check sent him. "I would not take $500 for those bulbs," wrote the physician, "as they are some that my wife and I always have dreamed of having, but never felt that we could afford to buy."

Maine has well defined artists' colonies in the summer time. Noted painters all ways are to be found at Ogunquit while such famous literary personages as Booth Tarkington and Kenneth L. Roberts make their summer homes in the state. Celebrities of the stage include Florence Reed and Malcolm Williams, who have a home at Belgrade Lakes, where also live Elsie Marbury, famous theatrical producer and political power; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ridges and William Roselle. Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Poland, Alice Johnson LaMar and Albert Willard Smith are residents of Portland. Len Hollister and his wife, Leona Stephens, have a summer home at Sebago Lake. Robert Connors and his wife, Helen Strickland, and Gus Weinberg spend every summer at Peaks Island. John D. Seymour, of Squirrel Island for the summer, while others who reside the year round or for several months annually include Thomas E. Shea, who has a home at Belfast; Wm. Buckley near Brunswick and Adeline Bushnell at Thomaston. At Lakeview permanent homes are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Byron, Mr. and Mrs. Wallis Clark, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hymer and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Davis, while annual visitors are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hackett, Arthur Goodrich and Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Bogart. Dr. George Backwell, of Portland, has returned and reported the following showings in St. Petersburg: Feb. 2nd, at the Maine Club, at which clubs of other states were invited; Feb. 13, at the Poinsettia Hotel; Feb. 13, at the Deseret Hotel; Feb. 17, at the Hotel Son Hotel; Feb. 26th, at the Dusenbury Hotel.

When he left Florida, he turned the films over to our friend, Jimmie Chute of Naples. He was to show them on the Florida east coast and then at other places on his leisurely way north to Maine.

We have a letter from a lady in Fort Lauderdale saying that Mr. Chute showed the films at the Tourist Club in that city and they were much appreciated. She also mentions that we may be interested to learn that Maine took the first prize in the All-States Contest the previous evening and she credits this success largely to Mr. Chute's ready wit and the showing of our films. She makes reference to another showing to be given before a large club in Orlando, Fla.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. L. H. DeCoster, East Main street, April 7, for all day session.

The Easter service was well attended. Beautiful decorations of flowers and plants were artfully arranged by Dr. Charles Wright. The music of the choir was much enriched by the voices of Mrs. Esther Anderson and Rupert Aldrich of Norway. Mrs. Anderson rendered the solo, "Hallelujah." A very impressive communion service was partaken by the most of the congregation. The vestry was packed for the evening service and the beautiful pageant "The Sword of the Spirit" was most effectively presented by the Junior League. The costumes and staging was very effective. All this entailed a great deal of labor upon the part of Mrs. Anna Swett and Mrs. Anna Kinney.

Sad news came to the parsonage, Monday evening, when a telegram announced the news of the death of Mr. Kinney's step-mother, Mrs. Mary E. Kinney at Easton, Me. She was eighty-six years of age.

The Young People's Class held its monthly meeting at the home of Miss Edith Lowell. A covered dish supper was most beautifully served by candle light. The president, Donald Ridley, spoke enthusiastically concerning the ideals desirable for such a class and met with unanimous accord on the part of the members present. The name "Delta Mu" was chosen as the class name. Games were played with gay enthusiasm. This class meets each Sunday morning at the church school session with the pastor as teacher.

Hannah Temple and her friends are invited to attend a carnival and dance to be held in Eureka, Me., at Harmony Temple, Auburn, at 8 o'clock, April 4th.

At the regular meeting of Hamlin Lodge, K. of P., last Friday night, the rank of Knight was worked.
